Conscience And Captivity Religion In Eastern Europe:

Conscience and Captivity Janice Broun, Grazyna Sikorska, 1988 Muslim Lives in Eastern Europe Kristen Ghodsee, 2010 Muslim Lives in Eastern Europe examines how gender identities were reconfigured in a Bulgarian Muslim community following the demise of Communism and an influx of international aid from the Islamic world Kristen Ghodsee conducted extensive ethnographic research among a small population of Pomaks Slavic Muslims living in the remote mountains of southern Bulgaria After Communism fell in 1989 Muslim minorities in Bulgaria sought to rediscover their faith after decades of state imposed atheism But instead of returning to their traditionally heterodox roots isolated groups of Pomaks embraced a distinctly foreign type of Islam which swept into their communities on the back of Saudi financed international aid to Balkan Muslims and which these Pomaks believe to be a more correct interpretation of their religion Ghodsee explores how gender relations among the Pomaks had to be renegotiated after the collapse of both Communism and the region's state subsidized lead and zinc mines She shows how mosques have replaced the mines as the primary site for jobless and underemployed men to express their masculinity and how Muslim women have encouraged this as a way to combat alcoholism and domestic violence Ghodsee demonstrates how women's embrace of this new form of Islam has led them to adopt more conservative family roles and how the Pomaks new religion remains deeply influenced by Bulgaria's Marxist Leninist legacy with its calls for morality social justice and human solidarity Christianity After Communism Niels C., Jr. Nielsen, 2018-03-08 Specialists from Europe and the US investigate the current and changing role of religion in post communist Russia Drawing upon Eastern Orthodox Protestant and Roman Catholic points of view they examine the Russian religious attitudes activities and institutions and explore the ways in which religion will significantly impact emerging social and political questions there The volume should be of use to scholars of Russian politics society and religion and for anyone interested in the emerging culture of the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe Occasional Papers on Religion in Eastern Europe, 1981 Sino-Vatican Relations Ambrose Mong, 2019-09-01 An insightful examination of how the relationship between the Roman Catholic Church and Communist China has evolved over the years Religion in Eastern Europe, 1993 The Final Revolution George Weigel, 2003-09-18 The collapse of communism in central and eastern Europe the Revolution of 1989 was a singularly stunning event in a century already known for the unexpected How did people divided for two generations by an Iron Curtain come so suddenly to dance together atop the Berlin Wall Why did people who had once seemed resigned to their fate suddenly take their future into their own hands Some analysts have explained the Revolution in economic terms arguing that the Warsaw Pact countries could no longer compete with the West But as George Weigel argues in this thought provoking volume people don't put their lives and their children's futures in harm's way simply for better cars refrigerators and TVs Something else something more had to happen behind the iron curtain before the Wall came tumbling down In The Final Revolution Weigel argues that that something was a revolution of conscience The human turn to the good to the truly human and ultimately to God was the key to the political Revolution of 1989 Weigel provides an in depth exploration of how the Catholic Church shaped the moral revolution inside the political revolution Drawing on extensive interviews with key leaders of the human rights and resistance movements he opens a unique window into the soul of the Revolution and into the hearts and minds of those who shaped this stirring vindication of the human spirit Weigel also examines the central role played by Pope John Paul II in confronting what V clav Havel called communism s culture of the lie and he suggests what the future role of the Church might be in consolidating democracy in the countries of the old Warsaw Pact The final revolution is not the end of history Weigel concludes It is the human quest for a freedom that truly satisfies the deepest yearnings of the human heart The Final Revolution illustrates how that quest changed the face of the twentieth century and redefined world politics in the year of miracles 1989 Freedom and the Captive Mind Wallace L.

Daniel,2024-10-15 Freedom and the Captive Mind is a biography of Fr Gleb Yakunin the first Orthodox priest to adopt an ecumenical approach to Russian Orthodoxy earning him the enmity of conservative groups within the Church and gratitude from other religious denominations Father Yakunin believed the survival of the Church depended on its willingness to reform When he was suspended Yakunin continued to fight the system working to expose the persecution of religious believers in the Soviet Union After years of exile Yakunin entered politics He was criticized by religious authorities denounced by nationalist politicians and excommunicated by the Russian Orthodox Church As Wallace L Daniel demonstrates the letters Yakunin wrote and his revelations about the relationship between the Church hierarchy and the KGB stand as monuments of courage and the determination to reveal the truth about abuses of power and the authoritarian mindset that predominated in both institutions Church and State Cristian Romocea,2011-04-21

Twenty years have passed since the fall of the Iron Curtain yet emerging democracies continue to struggle with a secular state which does not give preference to churches as major political players This book explores the nationalist inclinations of an Eastern Orthodox Church as it interacts with a politically immature yet decisively democratic Eastern European state Discussing the birth pangs of extreme nationalist movements of the twentieth century it offers a creative retelling of the ideological idiosyncrasies which have characterized Marxist Communism and Nazism Cristian Romocea provides a constant juxtaposition of the ideological movements as they interacted and affected organized religion at times seeking to remove it assimilate it or even imitate it Of interest to historians theologians and politicians this book introduces the reader through a case study of Romania to relevant and contemporary challenges churches worldwide are facing in a context characterized by increased secularization of the state and radicalization of religion U.S.S.R. and Eastern Europe John C.
