H. Sparks,W.H. Sparks,2010-02 Language and Conscious Experience is a philosophical theory of consciousness The book presents a theory that accommodates every aspect of consciousness and conscious experience The aspects referred to are perception imagery including memory and dreams feelings emotion and the acquisition and development of language including the origination of meaning The nature of consciousness is the energies detected by sensory receptors The nature of conscious experience is the detection by spindle receptors of energies developed and enhanced in intrafusal muscle spindles We experience the environment in the form of sensations sight hearing taste smell and touch to use the common and traditional identifications Consciousness is experienced by the detection of intrafusal muscle spindles The spindle receptor detection is analogous to the detection of the environment by sensory receptors The difference of course is that we are conscious as the detection of the intrafusal spindles The purpose of the neuromuscular system is response to the energies of the environment The purpose of the intrafusal spindles is to control the neuromuscular system Efferent impulse activity from synaptic activity enhances the intrafusal spindles that can then be detected as conscious experience Energies developed in the intrafusal spindles are determined by the innervation of the system When enhanced from configured synaptic activity the innervation is modified by the synaptic activity configured by experience
