A Progressive Occupation? Michael P. M. Finch, 2013-08-15 On the eve of the twentieth century Joseph Gallieni and Hubert Lyautey claimed to have devised a new approach to the consolidation of colonial acquisitions Their method emphasized the primacy of political action over military action called for the replacement of military columns with a creeping occupation stressed the importance of economic organisational development in ensuring the lasting stability of newly acquired imperial possessions and called for the unification of civil and military powers in the hands of the soldier who would act as the first administrator of the colony This method was the culmination of colonial experiences in Tonkin and Madagascar in the final decades of the nineteenth century Following Gallieni s career path across these colonies A Progressive Occupation The Gallieni Lyautey Method and Colonial Pacification in Tonkin and Madagascar 1885 1900 focuses first on the painful process of pacification in Tonkin locating the emergence of the method and Gallieni s own achievements in their proper context The volume s focus then moves across the Indian Ocean to Madagascar where Gallieni combining the roles of Commander in Chief and Governor General was able to play out his nascent colonial method on a grand scale Meanwhile his subordinates with Lyautey at the forefront were able to interpret his method in the execution of their missions Drawing heavily on French archival sources Michael Finch sheds new light on colonial conflict and consolidation during the age of European imperial expansion illustrates the differences gaps and transgressions that exist between the theory and the practice of pacification and raises broader questions about the French army empire and civil military relations subjectivity through a renegotiation of the past Finally the book shows how all of this can affect both clinician and patient within the contemporary clinical encounter Race in Psychoanalysis is a pivotal work of significance for scholars practitioners and students of psychoanalysis psychologists clinical social workers and other clinicians whose work is informed by psychoanalytic insights as well as those engaged in critical race and postcolonial studies

Martial Frindéthié, 2014-12-03 This work explores the limits and prospects of Afro Caribbean Francophone writers in reshaping or producing action oriented literature It shows how Francophone literatures have followed a hegemonic discourse that leaves little room for thinking outside of traditional cultural and ideological conventions Part One explores the origins of Afro Caribbean Francophone literature and what the author terms griotism a shared heritage of awareness of biological differences a sense of the black hero as black messiah and black people as chosen and the promise of a common racial history Part Two discusses the formidable grip of griotism on Fanon Mudimbe the champions of Creolity Bernabe Chamoiseau and Confiant and well read African women writers Aminata Sow Fall and Mariama Ba Part Three seeks to subvert the discourse of griotism in order to propose a new autonomy for Francophone African writers
