Confrontation with Exile Thomas A. Kamla, 1975      Confrontation, 1986      Exiles, Travellers and Vagabonds, 2016-10-20 Travel writing migrant writing exile writing expatriate writing and even the fictional travelling protagonists that emerge in literary works from around the globe have historically tended to depict mobility as a masculine phenomenon The presence of such genres in women's writing however poses a rich and unique body of work This volume examines the texts of Francophone women who have experienced or reflected upon the experience of transnational movement Due to the particularity of their relationship to home and the consequent impact of this on their experience of displacement the study of women's mobility opens up new questions in our understanding of the movement from place to place and in our broader understanding of colonial and postcolonial worlds Addressing the proximities and overlaps that exist between the experiences of women exiles migrants expatriates and travellers the collected essays in this book seek to challenge the usefulness relevance or validity of such terms for conceptualising today's complex patterns of transnational mobility and the gendered identities produced therein

Writing Early Modern Loneliness Hannah Yip, Thomas Clifton, 2025-02-13 This interdisciplinary collection of ten essays is the first to redefine historical conceptions of loneliness in the Western world by exploring its manifestation in early modern textual sources Contrary to current scholarly consensus that loneliness in Britain was understood as an emotion from the late eighteenth century only beginning to emerge in its literary form in the writings of the Romantic poets the contributors in this volume argue that early modern people were capable of complex and conflicting feelings of social and emotional isolation which were expressed in a wide range of writings Moreover these products of loneliness continue to resonate poignantly with humanity today

The Conflict of Voices in the Poetry of Dennis Butrus and Maḥmūd Darwīsh Randa Abou-bakr, 2004 A comparative analysis of the work of the South African poet Dennis Brutus 1924-2009 and the Palestinian poet Mahmud Darwish 1942-2008 this study aims to demonstrate how a conflict of voices in their poetry emerged and developed across four stages covering a period from the mid 1960s to the mid 1990s Based on a critique of theories proclaiming the death of the author a productive approach to voice is elaborated while taking a modifying perspective on aspects such as lyricism polyphony and impersonality

Feeling Exclusion Giovanni Tarantino, Charles Zika, 2019-10-10 Feeling Exclusion Religious Conflict Exile and Emotions in Early Modern Europe investigates the emotional experience of exclusion at the heart of the religious life of persecuted and exiled individuals and communities in early modern Europe Between the late fifteenth and early eighteenth centuries an unprecedented number of people in Europe were forced to flee their native lands and live in a state of physical or internal exile as a result of religious conflict and upheaval Drawing on new insights from history of emotions methodologies Feeling Exclusion explores the complex relationships between communities in exile the homelands from which they fled or were exiled and those from whom they sought physical or psychological assistance It examines the various coping strategies religious refugees developed to deal with their marginalization and exclusion and investigates the strategies deployed in various media to generate feelings of exclusion through models of social difference that questioned the loyalty values and trust of others Accessibly written divided into three thematic parts and enhanced by a variety of illustrations Feeling Exclusion is perfect for students and researchers of early modern emotions and religion

Moeller,1983 Sinister Wisdom ,1985 The German Historical Novel in Exile After 1933 Bruce M.

Broerman,Raphael Sealey,1985 Historical fiction from the epic tales of the ancients to Gone With the Wind and Roots demonstrates an inherent need in man to come to terms with his heritage in literary form When the writers and readers are exiles their need becomes especially poignant The dual historical artistic nature of the historical novel legitimates its claim to be a distinct genre Two of the post 1933 exiled German novelists Lion Feuchtwanger and Alfred D blin saw the historical novel s function as to collect preserve and transmit the reality not the mere facts of great historical events and personages The analysis of a cross section of the work of these two and eight other leading German novelists in exile Thomas and Heinrich Mann Hermann Broch Wolfgang Cordan Bruno Frank Robert Neumann Edgar Maass and Joseph Roth confirms the view of D blin and Feuchtwanger and reveals that an indebtedness to Neo Romanticism and a basic humanist attitude are common to all the authors Although 1933 marks the largest migration of writers into exile known to modern history their experience and their subsequent novels share attributes with the fictional expressions of exiled writers from places as varied as Argentina Poland South Africa and the Soviet Union *Robert marro jr. CHUCK,2026-02-08 What kind of man gains access to the most guarded circles of the Church and then spends a lifetime speaking from its edges This book offers a rare and intimate look into the life of one of the most complex and controversial Catholic figures of the modern era Through firsthand insight and long standing personal knowledge it explores a man whose experiences placed him at the intersection of faith power secrecy and spiritual conflict Far beyond the public image this account reveals how influence within the Vatican truly operates through discretion loyalty and silence It examines behind the scenes efforts carried out during periods of global ideological struggle including the Church s quiet response to hostile political systems and the difficult choices made to preserve belief under threat These realities were never meant for public discussion yet they shaped decisions that affected millions The book also revisits unresolved controversies that continue to provoke debate Sensitive disclosures disputed revelations and matters that were officially addressed yet never fully clarified are examined with care and restraint Rather than sensationalism the focus remains on understanding why certain truths were managed rather than openly explained and what that reveals about institutional authority Spiritual warfare is treated with equal seriousness This is not speculation or metaphor but an examination of why the Church approaches such matters with extreme caution and why involvement in this hidden realm placed certain individuals in uniquely difficult positions The risks spiritual psychological and personal are presented without exaggeration emphasizing responsibility over drama As controversy followed reputation became a battleground Accusations emerged credibility was questioned and distance from Rome reshaped public perception This book explores how exile can occur without decree how narratives are adjusted without confrontation and how silence can be as powerful as condemnation In the end this is not simply a biography It is an exploration of how faith and authority collide how conscience challenges control and how influence can endure long after official recognition is withheld What was left unsaid may be as important as what was spoken and the questions raised here continue to resonate today
