Accessibility, Equity and Efficiency Karst T. Geurs, Roberto Patuelli, Tomaz Ponce Dentinho, 2016-02-26 Leading researchers from around the world show in this volume the importance of accessibility in contemporary issues such as rural depopulation investments in public services and public transport and transport infrastructure investments in Europe The trade offs between accessibility economic development and equity are comprehensively examined and a variety of approaches to measuring accessibility and equality presented The book s interdisciplinary contributions also provide different geographical contexts from the US to various European and developing countries and cover ex ante and ex post evaluation of transport investment Improving transport accessibility is a main objective in transport policy and planning in developed and developing countries all over the world Investment is motivated by the need to develop and or reduce spatial or social inequalities However the economic and equity implications of investments in transport are not straightforward The concepts of accessibility and equity can be defined and operationalized in many different ways influencing outcomes and conclusions Moreover equity and efficiency goals are often conflicting Accessibility models not only help to explain spatial and transport patterns in developed and developing countries but are also powerful tools to explain the equity and efficiency impacts of urban and transport policies and projects This state of the art overview of the accessibility economic efficiency equity relationship will appeal to researchers as well as transport and urban planners interested in accessibility issues and transport regional developments

Empty Buckets and Overflowing Pits Roland Werchota, 2020-01-01 This book provides a multi level and multi dimensional insight into urban water and sanitation development by analyzing sector reforms in Africa With the recent events in mind water shortages in Cape Town widespread cholera in Haiti mass migration from low income countries etc it elaborates a pressing topic which is directly linked to the precarious living conditions of the urban poor in the developing countries It is urgent to acknowledge the proposed findings and recommendations of the book which will help to improve the situation of potential refugees in their home countries with a realistic vision for the development of the most basic of all life supporting services So many efforts to reverse the negative trend in water and sanitation development have failed or targets have been repeatedly missed by far without notable consequences for decision makers on different levels and institutions It has unnecessarily consumed many young lives contributed to keep billions in poverty until today and fostered discrimination of women The knowledge gap and the confusion in the sector lined out in the book becomes evident when a national leader in a low income country declares a state of emergency in urban water and sanitation while at the same time global monitoring publishes an access figure for urban water of over 90% for the same country It is time to change this with an effective sector development concept for our partner countries and a more realistic discourse on global level The book argues for a sweeping rethinking and combines extended local knowledge lessons learned from history in advanced countries and thorough research on reforms in Francophone and Anglophone developing countries This was possible because the writer was working in Sub Saharan partner countries for almost 30 years as an integrated long term advisor in different sector institutions ministry regulator financing basket and different sizes of utilities and had the opportunity to cooperate closely with the main development partners The reader has the opportunity to obtain a comprehensive understanding of how the sector works and sector institutions in low income countries function and can discover the reasons behind success and failures of reforms The book also covers issues which have a significant influence on urban water and sanitation development but are hardly the subject of discussions It helps to make the shortcomings of the water and sanitation discourse more apparent and assist institutions to move beyond their present perceptions and agendas All of this makes the book different from other literature about urban water and sanitation in the developing world
