Consciousness And Persons Unity And Identity:

Consciousness and Persons Michael Tye, 2005 A new theory of the unity of consciousness considering both philosophical issues about the nature of persons and personal identity and empirical findings in neuroscience The Phenomenology of Self-Awareness and the Nature of Conscious Subjects Julien Bugnon, Martine Nida-Rümelin, Donnchadh O'Conaill, 2025-10-27 This volume explores the connections between the phenomenology of self awareness and the metaphysical nature of subjects of experience bringing together two important research areas in contemporary philosophy of mind into fruitful engagement with one another The phenomenology of self awareness concerns what it is like to be aware of oneself in various conscious experiences such as perceiving recollecting experiencing agency or emotions The metaphysical nature of subjects of experience raises questions concerning whether subjects are physical or non physical entities whether they are substances or bundles of properties and what it is for subjects to have experiences The ten original essays in this volume are grouped into thematic sections covering the following topics the nature of self awareness and its relation to conscious experience the metaphysical nature of the subject of experience and whether self awareness can reveal anything about the metaphysical nature of the subject Each chapter is accompanied by comments from another contributor to the volume and a response from the author The Phenomenology of Self Awareness and the Nature of Conscious Subjects will appeal to researchers and advanced students working in analytic philosophy of mind Biology and Subjectivity Miguel García-Valdecasas, José Ignacio Murillo, Nathaniel F. Barrett, 2016-08-26 Some may consider that the language and concepts of philosophy will eventually be superseded by those of neuroscience This book questions such a naive assumption and through a variety of perspectives and traditions the authors show the possible contributions of philosophy to non reductive forms of neuroscientific research Drawing from the full range and depth of philosophical thought fromhylomorphism to ethics by way of dynamical systems enactivism and value theory amongst other topics this edited work promotes a rich form of interdisciplinary exchange Chapters explore the analytic phenomenological and pragmatic traditions of philosophy and most share a common basis in the Aristotelian tradition Contributions address one or more aspects of subjectivity in relation to science such as the meaning and scope of naturalism and the place of consciousness in nature or the relation between intentionality teleology and causality Readers may further explore the nature of life and its relation to mind and then the role of value in mind and nature This book shows how philosophy might contribute to real explanatory progress in science while remaining faithful to the full complexity of the phenomena of life and mind It will be of interest to both philosophers and neuroscientists as well as those engaged in interdisciplinary cooperation between philosophy and science The Revolutionary Kant Graham Bird, 2013-12-01 The Revolutionary Kant offers a new appreciation of Kant's classic arguing that Kant's reform of philosophy was far more radical than has been previously understood The book examines his proposed revolutionary reform to abandon traditional metaphysics and point philosophy in a new direction and contends that critics have misrepresented conflicts between Kant and his predecessors Kant Bird argues was not a flawed innovator but an advocate of a new philosophical project one that began to be appreciated only in the twentieth century English Philosophy in the Age of Locke Michael Alexander Stewart,2000 A fine volume The standard of editing is first rate the quality of the individual essays is outstanding and the range of topics addressed in it will render it an indispensable resource not only for Locke scholars and scholars of early modern thought but also for theologians and Church historians British Journal for the History of Philosophy This is an important set of essays that provides a rich collection of judicious insights and valuable resources for anyone who is interested in the philosophical and theological debates in the age of Locke Journal of Theological Studies The nine papers in this volume combine historical and analytic studies that through perceptive examination of primary sources and of their historical contexts offer important insights into various aspects of English philosophical political and religious ideas in the second half of the seventeenth century The contributors careful scholarship and balanced judgements provide a rich source of information and some important critical reflections on the need to revise what has previously been maintained Journal of Theological Studies English Philosophy in the Age of Locke presents a set of new essays investigating key issues in English philosophical political and religious thought in the second half of the seventeenth century Particular emphasis is given to the interaction between philosophy and religion in the leading political thinkers of the period and to connections between philosophical debate on personhood certainty and the foundations of faith and new conceptions of biblical exegesis Reasons and Empty Persons: Mind, Metaphysics, and Morality Christian Coseru,2023-02-22 Best known for his groundbreaking and influential work in Buddhist philosophy Mark Siderits is the pioneer of fusion or confluence philosophy a boldly systematic approach to doing philosophy premised on the idea that rational reconstruction of positions in one tradition in light of another can sometimes help address perennial problems and often lead to new and valuable insights Exemplifying the many virtues of the confluence approach this collection of essays covers all core areas of Buddhist philosophy as well as topics and disputes in contemporary Western philosophy relevant to its study They consider in particular the ways in which questions concerning personal identity figure in debates about agency cognition causality ontological foundations foundational truths and moral cultivation Most of these essays engage Siderits work directly building on his pathbreaking ideas and interpretations Many deal with issues that have become a common staple in philosophical engagements with traditions outside the West Their variety and breadth bear testimony to the legacy of Siderits impact in shaping the contemporary conversation in Buddhist philosophy and its reverberations in mainstream philosophy giving readers a clear sense of the remarkable scope of his work I, Me, Mine Béatrice Longuenesse,2017 Béatrice Longuenesse presents an original exploration of our understanding of ourselves and the way we talk about ourselves In the first part of the book she discusses contemporary analyses of our use of I in language and thought and compares them to Kant s account of self consciousness especially the type of self consciousness expressed in the proposition I think According to many contemporary philosophers necessarily any instance of our use of I is backed by our consciousness of our own body For Kant in contrast I think just expresses our consciousness of being engaged in bringing rational unity into the contents of our mental states In the second part of the book Longuenesse analyzes the details of Kant s view and argues that contemporary discussions in philosophy and psychology stand to benefit from Kant s insights into self consciousness and the unity of consciousness The third and final part of the book outlines similarities between Kant s view of the structure of mental life grounding our uses of I in I think and in the moral I ought to on the one hand and Freud s analysis of the organizations of mental processes he calls ego and superego on the other hand Longuenesse argues that Freudian metapsychology offers a path to a naturalization of Kant s transcendental view of the mind It offers a developmental account of the normative capacities that ground our uses of I which Kant thought could not be accounted for without appealing to a world of pure intelligences distinct from the empirical natural world of physical entities

Our Growing Creed William David McLaren,1912

Consciousness in Action Susan L. Hurley,1998 A standard view conceives perception as input from world to mind and action as output from mind to world with the serious business of thought in between Hurley criticizes this picture and considers how the interdependence of perceptual experience and agency at the personal level of mental contents and norms may emerge from the subpersonal level of underlying causal processes and complex dynamic feedback systems Hurley traces these themes from Kantian and Wittgensteinian arguments through to recent work in neuropsychology and in dynamic systems approaches to the mind providing a bridge from mainstream philosophy to work in other disciplines
