Consciousness East And West:

Consciousness Prem Saran Satsangi, Stuart Hameroff, Vishal Sahni, Pami Dua, 2016-01-01 This unique volume brings together eastern and western perspectives on consciousness with essays from philosophers and scientists which emphasize different aspects of the integration. The overarching aim of this book is to provide direction toward integrating Eastern philosophical and religious practice with philosophies and science of Western culture an aim that could be pivotal in understanding consciousness and its place in nature. A unifying approach is adopted to the study of consciousness integrating the wisdom of the sages of the east and the scientists of the west and the stupendous east west integration that has been achieved is indeed a milestone. The book will appeal to the rapidly growing mass of scientists and students in this upcoming field both in the east and west as well as the general inquisitive reader. Courses in consciousness studies are being promoted in leading Universities all over the world. It will also interest the followers and adherents of Eastern Philosophy of Saints and Radhasoami Faith numbering in a few millions around the globe. Consciousness Kenneth R. Pelletier, 1976

Phenomenal Consciousness and Mind-Body Problem V.N. Misra, 2019-07-05 About the Book The problem of explanatory gap in the phenomenal consciousness has risen in the Western philosophy mainly because the consciousness itself and its manifestations or reflections are treated separately. Whereas according to the Ved nta school of India the phenomenal consciousness is merely manifestations of self consciousness which is embodied in the human beings. In this approach the phenomenal consciousness and self consciousness are one and the same thing because the former depends upon the latter. Hence there is no explanatory gap in the phenomenal consciousness. Similar is the case with the mind body problem which exists in the Western philosophy mainly because the mind is treated as synonymous with consciousness. This book solves the above problems on the basis of the Indian philosophy and existential philosophy of Jean Paul Sartre. In both the philosophies there is no explanatory gap in the phenomenal consciousness and the mind body problem. About the Author V N Misra PhD retired from Indian Economic Service IES has worked as Economic Advisor in different ministries of Government of India. He had several consultancy assignments with the ADB FAO World Bank and IFPRI. Dr Misra has also to his credit more than forty research papers published in reputed journals in the field of agricultural policy and development labour employment rural poverty etc. He has also co authored with V S Vyas and D S Tyagi a book Significance of New Technology for Small Farmers. Dr Misra s study on Terms of Trade is a published work. He has now shifted his interest from economics to philosophy and has recently published two books Science of Consciousness A Synthesis of Ved nta and Buddhism and Sa s ra and Nirv a A Unifying Vision Philosophy East & West ,2001 Consciousness Quest J. P. Das, 2019-01-17 Consciousness is an active area of both philosophical debates and scientific research. Consciousness Quest rather than covering the broad spectrum of consciousness spread over multiple scientific disciplines refocuses the quest for consciousness on a specific area where Eastern contemplative traditions mostly in Hindu and Buddhist theories of mind meet Western empirical research. This book is an introduction to current scientific thinking and research on consciousness and at the same time acquaints readers with the spectrum of classical and modern philosophical notions on consciousness Consciousness Unbound Edward F. Kelly, Paul Marshall, 2021-03-16 Building on the groundbreaking research of Irreducible Mind and Beyond Physicalism Edward Kelly and Paul Marshall gather a cohort of leading scholars to consider the significance of extraordinary experiences for our understanding of reality Currently emerging as a middle ground between warring fundamentalisms of religion and science an expanded science based understanding of nature finally accommodates empirical realities of spiritual sorts while also rejecting rationally untenable overbeliefs The vision sketched here provides an antidote to the prevailing postmodern disenchantment of the world and demeaning of human possibilities It not only more accurately and fully reflects our human condition but engenders hope and encourages ego surpassing forms of human flourishing It offers reasons for us to believe that freedom is real that our human choices matter and that we have barely scratched the surface of our human potentials It also addresses the urgent need for a greater sense of worldwide community and interdependence a sustainable ethos by demonstrating that under the surface we and the world are much more extensively interconnected than previously recognized

East-West Identities Kwok B. Chan, Jan W. Walls, David Hayward, 2007 While the economic forces shaping globalization are powerful and seemingly getting stronger they are not immutable nor are their effects predictable or necessarily overwhelming Contributors to this book are optimistic that the socio cultural formations of the future such as cultural hybridity and cosmopolitanism will be a viable option for constructing new or renewed global communities of migrants around the world It is with these tools that migrants are best equipped to navigate the raging torrents of globalization in the new millennium of a post postmodern era Globalization brings with it a fear a sense of loss and demise It also brings with it a new sense of opportunity and hope It is in this spirit that this book should be read
