Developing Literature-based Reading Programs A How-to-do-it Manual For Librarians:

Developing Literature-based Reading Programs Bernice L. Yesner, Mary Murray, 1992-12-31 What is a literature based reading programme What are its goals and purposes How can teachers be convinced of its value How can a programme be set up and run The authors answer these questions and provide help in formulating the list of titles appropriate for each level in each grade The mechanics of acquiring and processing literature based reading paperbacks is covered and addenda list library supply houses addresses and toll free telephone numbers Planning and Developing a Library Based Literacy Program Arthur D. Bentley, Elizabeth Ann Funk, State Library of Pennsylvania, 1988 Children's Literature in Action Sylvia M. Vardell, 2008 An introduction to children's literature an activity oriented survey of books which should be in your library focused on librarians with practical applications for librarians to share books with children plans for book based programs and ways to collaborate with teachers and families in sharing books with children Help is given for the selection and sharing of books in each genre Each chapter has brief insets of author comments collaborative activities featured books special topics and activities selected awards and celebrations historical connections recommended resources issues for discussion and assignment suggestions The author a former President of the U S Board on Books for Young People has written an affordable text especially for school and children's librarians and faculty teaching both undergraduate and graduate students who are studying to be school and children's librarians While similar texts on this subject are designed for teachers this is an activities oriented survey of children's literature written especially for students seeking licensure and degrees leading to careers working with children in schools and public libraries All the pieces are there the explanations of the genres introductions to authors and illustrations and the use of specific titles with their audiences and the literature is carefully linked to active practice in libraries Chapters are enriched by brief insets of authors comments collaborative activities selected awards and celebrations historical connections recommended resources issues for discussion and assignment suggestions The framework for this text adds a layer of practical application in every chapter for the librarian who shares books with children plans book based programs and collaborates with teachers and families in sharing books and developing literature based instruction What does a librarian need to know about how to select and share books in each genre What are the usual promotion and collaboration activities associated with each genre This book answers those questions while maintaining its focus on literature for children Embedded in a genre approach to literature it has a unique focus on the librarian or future librarian Literature, Literacy, and Learning Eleanor Kulleseid, Dorothy S. Strickland, 1989 In this text the authors present a brief framework for understanding the theoretical foundations and parameters of a literature based curriculum and give suggestions for further reading Curriculum-Based Library Instruction Amy Blevins, Megan Inman, 2014-09-26 The rampant nature of technology has caused a shift in information seeking behaviors In addition current trends such as evidence based medicine and information literacy mean that one time instructional sessions cannot provide our patrons with all of the skills they need For this reason many librarians are working to develop curriculum based instruction that is semester long or consisting of many sessions throughout an academic program In addition to teaching librarians are also becoming embedded in the curriculums they support by serving as web based course designers problem based learning facilitators or members of curriculum committees Although it is fairly obvious that library instruction is important and that librarians should be equipped to provide this instruction the majority of ALA accredited programs offer only one course on library instruction the courses are only available as electives and they are often only offered once a year Librarians need to gain their instructional experiences through real life experiences mentors and of course books like this one Many books commonly discuss one shot sessions and provide tips for getting the most out of that type of instruction There are not as many that discuss curriculum based instruction in a section let alone an entire book Curriculum Based Library Instruction From Cultivating Faculty Relationships to Assessment highlights the movement beyond one shot instruction sessions specifically focusing on situations where academic librarians have developed curriculum based sessions and or become involved in curriculum committees This volume describes and provides examples of librarians varied roles in the curriculum of education programs These roles include semester long or multi session instructor web based course designer problem based learning facilitator and member of a curriculum committee In addition to describing the roles that librarians have in supporting curriculum the book describes how to carry out those roles with sections devoted to adult learning theory teaching methods developing learning objectives and working with faculty to develop curriculum Examples of library sessions devoted to information literacy evidence based practice information literacy and biomedical informatics are included This book is not limited to one mode of delivering information and covers examples of face to face distance and blended learning initiatives
